

Nicole James
ASEN-6062
Celestial Mechanics
Project Proposal

My project will show how we can use the CR3BP to design fuel efficient paths to the moon.

I will look at trajectories that can reach the moon using ballistic capture mechanisms based on Lagrangian and Hamiltonian mechanics to minimize fuel requirements. I'll then compare the low-energy paths to standard transfers (such a Hohmann) to highlight tradeoffs.